Subscriptions: One year, $3; one month, 25 cts; single copy, 1 cent.

Members of the Publishers' Press.—The latest telegraphic news from all parts of the world are received by the Daily Times up to the hour of going to press.

Frank E. Langley, Publisher.

Published Every Weekday Afternoon.

Entered at the postoffice at Barre as second class matter.

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, 1903.

The average daily circulation of the Barre Daily Times for the week ending Saturday was copies, the largest paid circulation of any daily paper in this section.

2,750

A GAIN OF 400

In the daily circulation of the Times since Jan. 1st is something no other Washington county daily can show.

The circulation statements of the Times can always be verified by anyone who so wishes. Press room, circulation books, paper bills and all that pertains to the circulation of the Times are open to the inspection of all. Is there any other Washington county daily that will show up in like manner?

There is many a slip between the cup and lifting it. Reference, Sir Thomas Lypton.

The selling price of Shamrock III has not been bettered any by the result of the international yacht race, but her owner will not be bankrupt for all that.

The editor of the anarchist paper at Barre, which is threatened with suppression, thinks that the utterances of his paper are mild and harmless in comparison with those papers printed in English which advocate lynching. Who has been advocating lynching in English anyway? Let the guilty parties stand up and be counted.—Bellevue Falls Times.

Yes, let them stand up now and be counted.

The anti-trading clause of the license law, while possibly not entirely vindicated, has shown itself to be not entirely worthless and unenforceable. The conviction of a Burlington man for violating that section of the law shows that. Those newspapers and people who have been rattling the state, so to speak, of the license law please take notice.

The Groton Times falls in with the idea of a "New Vermont," and does not attempt to beg the meaning of the sentiment with a lot of silly insinuations. That's where Editor Lord is entirely sensible. He says: "Vermonters are more loyal to home enterprises; seek home investment; desire more political changes than heretofore, and much greater progress, as a state, will be made as these causes intensify and increase."

There is possibly no need to call to the attention of the people of Barre that next Monday has been set apart as Labor Day and will be appropriately observed as such. In Barre the celebration will be particularly significant. Every preparation has been made for a successful observance, and as practically every branch of industry in the city will be shut down for the day, there is every promise for a rousing observance. Let all unite to make it successful.

RULES BY WHICH TO RISE.

Try to be somebody with all your might.

Find your purpose and cling your life out to it.

The lucky man is the man who sees and grasps his opportunity.

What is put into the first of life is put into the whole of life. Start right.

A great opportunity will only make you ridiculous unless you are prepared for it.

The first thing you should do, if you have not done it, is to fall in love with your work.

Don't wait for extraordinary opportunities; seize common occasions and make them great.

Don't brood over the past nor dream of the future, but seize the instant and get your lesson from the hour.—Success.

The Summer of 1903.

It will be a fine thing when the years have slipped by.

As a new generation appears to the eye. As happy as happy can be.

To tell, while young hearts are with sympathy warmed.

Of the year when the summer got good and reformed.

The summer of nineteen-three.

The nephews that used to be parched were so mild.

That they seemed like the sign of a comforted child.

As they swept over the blossoming sea. And the sky overhead, as it smiled on the key.

With a canopied cloud kept the sunshine away.

The summer of nineteen-three.

It was like some old rogue who is changing his mind.

And resolves to be generous, gentle and kind.

To atone for a life overfree.

And, though some backslidings occurred now and then.

It cooled off and tried not to do it again.

The summer of nineteen-three.

ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned From Our Exchanges.

The total circulation of books from the Kimball Public Library of Randolph during August, in Randolph and Randolph Center, was 1237, giving a daily average of 50.5-23.

The "World's Fair" at Tombridge is to be held Sept. 20-30 and Oct. 1. This is the fair that interests the people in this vicinity more than all others. The Chelsea brass band has been engaged to furnish music. The officers of the society expect to secure several attractive features to entertain the crowd this year.

What is said to be the first round barn ever built in Washington county has just been completed by George Dow and son of Cabot. It is 60 feet across and is a very commodious, busy structure. From what people say regarding the barn it looks as if a number of others when they build will follow the example set by the Messrs. Dow.

Harry Lanctot of Sherbrooke, P. Q., has been pardoned by Gov. J. G. McCullough on petition of J. P. Lamson, his counsel. Lanctot was sentenced to nine years in state's prison for burglary in Lyndonville and had served six or seven years. The pardon was asked for on the grounds that he had been sufficiently punished.

During the game of base ball on the Mattoon field at Chelsea last Saturday afternoon between the married and single men, Milton E. Hutchinson was badly injured. He and Elisha Burgess both made a run for the same ball and collided. Burgess' head striking Hutchinson under one eye and breaking the zygomatic process of the temporal bone. Mr. Hutchinson was at once carried home and is doing as well as can be expected. Mr. Burgess was hurt quite badly but not enough to deter him from continuing the game. The rain prevented the finish of the game at the end of the sixth inning, when the married men were a few scores ahead.

Hon. Alexander Dunnnett is a somewhat absent minded gentleman—sometimes. Not long since this disciple of Blackstone from the lily white town unloaded himself from a passenger coach at Hardwick and proceeding to the Eastman & Hoffman livery stable hired a horse and buggy to go over into Albany or thereabouts to perform some business at law. He had his horse put up and was soon in the thick of a law suit. Business over he was asked by another gentleman present to ride to Hardwick. Andy accepted the invitation, smoked good cigars, swapped lies with his companion and finally reached Hardwick. Here he ate a good supper, and departed on the evening train for home, blissfully forgetful of the hired horse and buggy he left in Albany. The team was finally traced by its owners and returned to them the third day after its departure.

JINGLES AND JESTS.

Too Much.
The wisdom of the sages
Is in her tender eyes;
The pathos of the ages
Is in her maiden sighs.
In her sweet face each feature
A meaning doth disclose;
But, oh, what can picture
The sorrow of her nose!
—Philadelphia Ledger.

Boston Gallantry.
She—I stepped on a stone and turned my ankle.
He—No need of that; it was very prettily turned before.
She—You horrid thing!—Boston Transcript.

She Knew.
He—Black and red spots appear before my eyes every night. What would you advise me to do?
She—Stop playing poker.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Protest.
The walnut is rather a rough nut;
We refer to the tramp as a tough nut;
So why break awah
From consistency, eh?
It ought to be known as a doughnut.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

Used to It.
"Mike," said Plodding Pete, "what would you do if you owned a railroad?"
"Same as usual," answered Meandering Mike. "I'd wake up."—Washington Star.

The Fish Story.

"I used to be a great hand for fishing when I was your age, Bobby."
"Well, I s'pose I'll have to take your word for it, but you sure have forgotten a whole lot about fishin' since that time."—New York American.

POPE PIUS X.

It is safe to say that no one but the pope knows what the pope will do, and it is probable that even he has not yet definitely determined upon a settled line of policy.—Providence Journal.

Pope Pius X. is crowned, the ceremonies are ended, and the world will now settle down to watch his course. This will not develop in a hurry. Rome always works leisurely. The statesmanship of Leo will be dovetailed into that of Pius, and if a change is made it will be months, perhaps years, before it develops fully.—Toledo Blade.

New Art Exhibition.
St. Petersburg will have in November an international exhibition of industrial art for metal or stone products. The proceeds of the show will go to a charitable society. Bulky articles are not wanted. Each object must have some originality in shape or definite artistic value or be remarkable for the way of production. Import duties will be remitted on articles accepted for the exhibition.

Shipbuilding on the Coast.
At present the total value of contracts under construction at the leading shipyards on our seacoasts is $111,604,500, representing fourteen yards. Of this total $88,507,500 represents naval work and $22,797,000 merchant marine work.

Now's the Time

To Visit the Busy Store!

Come and see the beautiful new Fall goods that are being unpacked daily. Case after case, to say nothing of express packages, have been received at our store the past week. There's case after case to follow. Many of our new Fall Novelties in Ladies' Waistings (no two patterns alike) were taken up the past week with a rush by ladies of good taste, who pronounced them far ahead of those displayed elsewhere, and our prices are most reasonable—that's what has made our great business. It is easy to distinguish between our values and those offered you elsewhere. We opened our store to the public, last December, without a single customer. Now ours is the busiest Dry Goods store in the city. There must be a good reason for the steady increase in our business. Think it over.
